How to access FutureLearn courses before your studies

You may have been advised to study a FutureLearn course before beginning your studies at the University of Nottingham. Below is more information about how to access these courses without payment. We do not expect you to pay for access.

Before activating your IT account

You should read this information below if you have not yet activated your IT account, and do not have a UoN email address.

First, you will need to register on the FutureLearn website. Once registered, you will be given a choice of purchase and upgrade options, as shown above. You should choose 'Join with limited access', the option on the right. This will be free-of-charge and gives you access to the course for the duration the number of weeks shown. New content will be released weekly.
